Kimbell Art Museum

SOCIAL NARRATIVE

Independent Family Visit: Early Learners
I am going to visit the Kimbell Art Museum.
Inside the museum, I might see art from Africa, the Ancient Americas, Asia, and Europe.

I might need to walk up some stairs or ride an elevator to visit some of the art galleries or the auditorium.
There will be security guards everywhere in the museum. They are there to help people and to keep the art safe. If I get lost and can’t find my family, I can tell one of the security guards.
Lots of people will stop and look at the art in the galleries. I can look at the art, too.

I will see some paintings on the walls and some sculptures on pedestals.
I can look at the art with my eyes, but I should not touch it with my hands.

I should stay at least three feet, or an arm’s length, away from the art.

I can talk about the art using a quiet voice.
Some parts of the museum might be loud, and some might be quiet. Some are crowded, and some have fewer people.

If I am feeling overwhelmed, I can ask a member of the security or visitor services staff to point me to a quiet place.
I can visit Studio A in the Piano Pavilion if I would like to play, read, or relax with my family.

I can go outside to see some sculptures. I can walk through the gravel. I can look at the trees. I can look at the fountains, but I should not touch the water.
If I get hungry, my family can find something to eat at the Kimbell’s Buffet Restaurant or the Pavilion Café.
If I want to shop for books and toys, I can visit the Museum Shop.
If I need a restroom in the Kahn Building, I need to go to the downstairs East Lobby.

I can find restrooms, both individual and family stalls, on both floors of the Piano Pavilion. There is a Nursing Room on the lower floor of the Piano Pavilion.
When I am ready to leave, I will go back to the entrance where I came in. If I checked my bag, I will go back to the parcel check desk to get it back.

I love visiting the Kimbell Art Museum!
